GENERAL NEWS.

Cholera is said to be decreasing in Hamburg at last accounts.

The C. P. R. Co. have sold $40,000 worth of town lots in Estevan this season.

The wheat crop of Manitoba and the Territories this year is estimated at 20,000,000 bushels.

Geo. Morton, of Calgary, attempted suicide by jumping into a well on September 8th. The attempt failed.

The sealers of Victoria, B. C., will not sell their catch at the prices offered at home and will ship to London, England.

The Free Press mentions that Mrs. J. Higgins, of Point Douglas, Winnipeg, has a good collection of crab apples in her garden.

James McMahon, a former resident of Cornwall, Ont., but absent for two years, shot and killed special constable John R. Davy, on September 6th, while undergoing arrest for shooting two other men, Antoine Lafesse and Antoine Lefebvre. A quarrel over some money caused the trouble.

Calgary Herald: Tracklaying on the C. & E. south has been finished into the new C. & E. townsite of Macleod, and now there remains but some twelve miles of surfacing to be completed. The first through train from the terminus will arrive in Calgary to-morrow evening. Work on the line into the Crow's Nest Pass has commenced, a gang of graders being at work some three miles west of the townsite.

Free Press: Messrs. H. and F. Walters, late proprietors of the Essex, Ont., Free Press, are in the city, en route to the west on a short expedition. They have just disposed of their business at Essex, owing to the ill health of one of the brothers. They visit the Red Deer district and will extend their hunting trip into the mountains. Mr. F. Walters will combine business with pleasure, having undertaken to do literary work in the west for the C. P. R.

The premier of British Columbia, Hon. Mr. Davie, gave a complimentary dinner to the railway officials on the evening of August 3rd, as a celebration of the successful completion of the arrangements for building the Canada Western railway. The line of the new road will run from Victoria northward to Seymour Narrows, following on the mainland the old route of the Canadian Pacific to the eastern boundary of the province. The line has already been subsidized 20,000 acres per mile and assured by the provincial government and Victoria of further financial aid. The Dominion has also been asked for the usual money bonus.

Macleod Gazette: Seeing signs of the coming railway from our office window yesterday, our representative made tracks for the scene of action, and a busy scene it was too. Yesterday noon the track gang reached the top of the grade, and by this evening the last rail will have probably been laid. The station house and freight shed are finished outside, and only require fixing up inside. A tank and round house are in course of erection a little north of the station. That, however, barring the solitary establishments of Walker & Co., and the Anthracite Coal Co., (both at present empty) so far constitutes the new town, or perhaps we should add also a log building in course of erection by Mr. McIntock, but which has not visibly increased in size, since we saw it last, two weeks ago, and a few piles of bones collected by Indians and halfbreeds, waiting for the cars. There you have the new town of Macleod.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, SEPTEMBER 15, 1892

THE NEW POLICY.

The Regina Leader has interviewed H. S. Cayley, leader of the present executive, as to the financial policy of himself and party in regard to the administration of public affairs. In this interview there appears to have been a perfect communion of souls. Mr. Cayley's communicative mood was excelled only by the receptivity of the Leader so that we may fairly take for granted that whatever was to be said on behalf of the party or its policy was said. Of course the proper, or indeed, the only place to state the policy of an executive is in and to the legislative assembly to which it is responsible, but as the present executive does not hold office by grace of the assembly, it was relieved from that duty; in fact owing to circumstances over which it had no control found it impossible to make a statement to the assembly. While willing to give due weight to the statements appearing in the Leader interview it is always well to remember that they can only be held binding by the country as a declaration of policy as long as Mr. Cayley chooses to stand by them, which from past experience may be judged to be only so long as that policy may be likely to suit Mr. Cayley's ends. However, taking this declaration for what it is worth, it is well to look carefully into this policy and see what it amounts to. The executive led by Mr. Haultain submitted estimates to the assembly amounting to $307,704.24. These estimates were rejected by the assembly by a majority of one, not on account of any objection stated to the amounts contained or their distribution, but on the ground that the electoral district of Saskatchewan had not been properly represented on the executive. This was the question upon which Haultain was defeated and was therefore a declaration of the policy upon which his opponents attempted to take the office which they failed to get, but has since been given them by his honor the lieutenant-governor. If this policy was good enough to defeat the former executive on it was certainly good enough to run the present executive on. The fact that it has not been considered good enough to run the present executive on is proof that it was not sufficient cause for the defeat of the old executive. The Saskatchewan cry was good enough for any appeal to the house, something better must be found on which to appeal to the country. So a new financial policy has been set forth in the columns of the Leader. This new policy consists in the change in the appropriation of a total sum of $15,500 out of the total estimates of over $300,000. Not a very radical change of policy truly upon which to base an appeal against the men whose energy and good management secured for the assembly the control of the bulk of the $300,000.

The first item of change is an appropriation of $4,000 with which to carry out an immigration policy, of which $2,000 is to go for the salary and expenses of one agent, and the balance, it is to be presumed, for the expenses of 4 other temporary agents, who are to be employed during the four summer months. Looked at as an elegant and efficient means of disposing of a portion of the revenue of the Territories and providing good situations for men who are liable to drop out of Northwest politics with a dull thud at the next election, this part of the new policy must be admitted to contain the elements of abundant success. But looked at with a view to the necessities of the case, and the peculiar conditions of the country, remembering the success of like efforts made by members of the same party in the days of Dr. Brett's advisory council, and comparing it with the magnitude of the efforts being put forth by the Dominion government and the C. P. R., and the small results that have yet been achieved by these agencies, it seems the height of absurdity as an aid to peopling the country. If we have the funds to spare to establish a thorough system of inducing emigration from the Eastern provinces to the Northwest let us organize such a system. If we cannot we will be doing more in the interests of immigration by using our funds to make the country attractive by improving the roads in the north, providing wells and reservoirs in the southeast, irrigation works in the southwest, and good schools all over, than by any penny halfpenny immigration policy such as proposed in the columns of the Leader.

The second feature of the new policy is the appropriation of $1,200 to assist license inspectors in enforcing the liquor ordinance. The newness of this policy is not altogether clear. It was the policy of the Haultain executive to assist license inspectors in enforcing the liquor ordinance, as shown by a bill amending the liquor ordinance, introduced by Mr. Haultain, but which, like all the rest of the legislation for the session, was killed by the action of the lieutenant-governor in the interests of the present executive. This was also shown by the placing of a sum of $5,590 in the rejected estimates for expenditure under the liquor ordinance. The administration of the liquor ordinance may cost $1,200 more than under the former executive, but no ostensible change of policy is involved in the increase.

The third and last item of the new policy is the subtraction of $10,000 from the original vote of $90,903.25 for expenditure on roads, bridges and public purposes generally in each electoral district. According to the original estimates this sum would have been divided equally amongst the 26 electoral districts for expenditure on public purposes in those districts. By the new policy about $3,000 will be thus available to be expended under the direction of each sitting member, and $10,000 will be held for expenditure by the executive. On this item of policy Mr. Cayley said to the Leader: "I quite agree with you as to the impropriety of giving such a large sum as $90,000 into the hands of the members to be expended as they pleased, but it was late in the session and each member was counting on getting that $3,500—in fact they almost felt as if they had it in their pockets, and you could not get them to consent to give up the whole thing. We have taken off $10,000, however, thus making a start, and there is no doubt the system can and will be improved on next year." When Mr. Cayley speaks of the impropriety of giving $3,500 into the hands of each member and the feeling of the said members as to having the money in their pockets, he alludes of course to the members supporting himself and colleagues, as these were the only ones with whom he could have consulted. If there was a grave impropriety in giving $3,500 into the hands of each member, it is difficult to understand how it became proper to give $3,000. And if it was improper to give $3,500 into the hands of a duly elected representative of the people, how much more improper must it be for four members who form an executive contrary to constitutional law and usage to take from the expenditure of each of their fellow members the sum of nearly $500, to be appropriated as that executive may please without responsibility to any one. This point of the new policy will bear inspection less than either of the others. In the first place the insinuation that the several members absolutely control the amount appropriated for district expenditure independent of control by the executive is absolutely untrue. The several works are recommended by the member for the simple reason that he is in the best position to know where work is needed. Had $10,000 been withdrawn from this fund by vote of the assembly to be used for specific purposes there would have been nothing to be said; but when it is withdrawn without vote of the assembly and without specific purpose, on the responsibility only of an irresponsible executive it is on the face of it an act which can have only one object and that is the deprivation of the several districts of a certain sum in order that that sum may be available for the purposes of that irresponsible executive. What those purposes are the record of the party of the present executive, short though its history is, makes very plain. As a matter of fact it is with this $10,000 that the executive hopes to purchase sufficient support to enable it to meet the assembly at its next session, with a working majority at its back. And this is its only hope.

D. E. NOYES left for White Mud lake, near the Jasper House, with a train of pack horses, on Wednesday. Mr. Noyes reports moose and bear very numerous near the Jasper House this season, the Indians having killed 50 moose near his trading post. Not many bears have been killed yet as their fur is not prime, but a good killing will be made in the fall. The moose have been scarce in that district for some time past, and it is thought that the large number recently killed is due to a migration from some other region. The season has been dry near the Jasper House, and unless rain has fallen since Mr. Noyes left there will be great danger of fires this fall.

THE cellar for the new H. B. store building is being dug on the northeast corner of Third street and Jasper avenue, and work will be rushed on the building this fall by the contractor, Jas. McDonald. The large part will be used as a general store and the wing as a liquor store. The frontage is 48 feet.

Platinum is found under the same circumstances in the Saskatchewan, but in fine dust like the gold.

J. CAMERON started the store building which he is erecting on the lot adjoining the BULLETIN office, on Tuesday. The building will be 26x75, of which 26x50 will have a cellar underneath and be two stories high. The lower story will be fitted as a store and the upper story as offices. The building will be of frame for the present and will be bricked in the spring. J. G. Clelland, contractor.

ROBERTSON'S hall is now almost completed, the inside painting being in progress. This building will supply a great need in Edmonton, as the town has never before had a hall such as is necessary for people to meet in comfortably for instruction, recreation or amusement. The building is 45x65, two stories high, with cellar nearly the full size of the building. The lower story is divided into two stores, 20 and 25 feet wide respectively, the full depth of the building. A stairway five feet wide and of easy ascent leads from the street front to the hall, which occupies the whole upper story. The ceiling of the hall is fifteen feet above the floor. The stage is raised about 4 feet and is 18 feet deep across the whole end of the building. Footlights are arranged and two small dressing-rooms, one at each side of the stage. Over the stairway is a gallery capable of accommodating twenty persons. The seating capacity of the hall will be about 300.

PRESS OPINIONS ON THE DEFEAT OF THE HAULTAIN EXECUTIVE.

Qu'Appelle Progress, September 1st: We would not feel disposed to defeat an executive simply on the grounds that the Saskatchewan or any other district had been for a short time unrepresented on that committee, whatever we would be disposed to do in regard to the charges of breach of confidence as implied in "other respects." To our mind district representation on the executive plays no very important part in the administrative functions of that executive. The interests of an unrepresentative provisional district are no more likely to be ignored than the electoral district whose member has not the honor of a seat on that committee. We are, however, content to concede to those members who attach so much importance to district representation the right to insist that the principle be carried out. It is difficult for those outside of the assembly to know just what sins are covered by "other respects," but it is pretty generally known that Mr. Haultain is not today as popular as the favorable conditions under which he took office would have made him if he had used a little more diplomacy.

Macleod Gazette, September 1st: We fancy that the country will have but scant patience with those who have brought about this most unsatisfactory state of affairs for no good reason. It is unfortunately the penalty which the whole territories have to pay because certain portions of it are blind enough to elect Brett, Betts & Co., as their representatives. Only a short time ago we found these very same men interfering with the progress and the business of the country by insisting upon government by the minority. The majority of the people of the territories were properly then indignant, although the members of the old advisory board were able to hoodwink the few by cloaking their real motives. Now, however, we hope and think that their own constituents will have had enough of their office seeking greed. They cannot but feel that the business of the country was going along smoothly enough under men who had conspicuous natural ability, and who were daily gaining in experience. The fact that, without any substantial or sufficient reason, these same men have caused another deadlock; have brought important legislation to a standstill; have rendered the assembly ridiculous in the eyes of the rest of the Dominion, and who are now forcing the territories to undergo the trouble and expense of another general election, will scarcely be forgiven by the people of the Northwest.

Qu'Appelle Vidette, The Betts-Cayley combination, with the Leader and Prince Albert Times, are accusing Mr. Ross of extreme partizanship for having resigned his position as speaker of the assembly. When a man accepts the speakership has he to ignore the rights of his constituents, and not give expression to their views on any subject—however grave? It may be well enough in an assembly of five or six hundred, where it would be all but absolutely impossible for the votes on any given question to result in a tie; but in an assembly such as our own, where there are so few, and the questions, in the meantime, being based, as they are, on long-contended-for principles, are of so great importance, it is not to be expected that the party that has fought so long and valiantly for the small measure of responsibility that has been secured for the legislature would be willing to sit down with folded hands, while the party that has been so assiduous in its labors for government by minority are attempting to ride roughshod over them; nor would they be justified in such a course. No; Mr. Ross was quite justified in taking the step he did. If Mr. Ross was acting as a pronounced partizan in resigning, what is to be said of lieutenant-governor Royal, who prorogued the house by circulars delivered to the members personally before the hour appointed for them to meet in session.

Mayor Macdonald, of Winnipeg, has submitted an outline of a scheme to the city council for the government of the city by a board of commissioners instead of as at present. The idea is to relieve untrained councilmen from doing duty for which experts are required.

J. GREGG, station agent at Edmonton, has been promoted to Dunmore junction on the main line of the C. P. R., and will leave on Friday's train. Mr. Gregg's departure is much regretted as he was a careful, painstaking and obliging agent. At the same time he is to be congratulated on having received deserved promotion.

G. A. Stock of Calgary arrived on Monday's train to prepare an exhibit of grains, grasses and vegetables of the Edmonton district for exhibition in England during the coming winter. Mr. Stock will remain for several months. He has taken over the car of exhibits collected last week by Campbell Young, which was expected to have gone to Ontario, but which under the new arrangement will go much further. Mr. Stock is a practical farmer and has been selected for the work by Mr. Hamilton on that account.

THE BULLETIN begs to acknowledge the receipt of a copy of a certain Ontario daily paper, which shall be nameless in this item, marked by a fist printed in red ink pointing to a column and a half article on one of the now numerous gold cure establishments in the United States. For the information of the enterprising boomers of such establishments it may be in order to remark that the editor of this great journal is not in need of the services of any such institutions, no matter how great their merits, or how low their rates. If the object of the aforesaid boomers is simply to get the use of the BULLETIN columns to advertise their business, they are hereby informed that they can have that privilege at the usual advertising rates, namely: 10 cents per line for a first insertion and 5 cents for each subsequent insertion.
